BRITISH SMASH DUCE'S UNITS ON ALL FRONTS

TROOPS TRAVEL DEEP INTO ALL AFRICAN AREAS

Agordat, Key Railroad City, Taken; Shock Soldiers From India Helping

CAIRO, Feb. 3—Great Britain's determined drive to dislodge Italian troops from Eritrea, Somaliland, Abyssinia and Libya netted a new victory today with announcement that the important Eritrean town of Barentu had fallen into British hands.

LONDON, Feb. 3—German airmen killed a large number of Italian prisoners in a dive-bombing attack on a British freighter evacuating Italians from Libya, the admiralty announced today.

CAIRO, Feb. 3—Smashing Italian resistance on all African fronts, British troops today drove their way deeper into the Fascist colonies of Eritrea, Somaliland, Abyssinia and Libya.

Greatest British advance was made into the Red Sea colony of Eritrea where imperial troops—led by motorized shock units from India—pushed eastward of the fallen Italian railway center of Agordat.

In North Africa, the British command reported the concentration of British troops in the direction of the key Italian naval base of Bengazi. In northwest Abyssinia, a communique reported the Italians in "full retreat," while in Somaliland a "general falling back" of Fascist forces was reported.

Large quantities of war booty and "many hundreds of prisoners" were taken when the British troops swept into Agordat, a war bulletin reported. Capture of Agordat now gives the British control of Eritrea's only railway that leads directly to the capital of Asmara and the colony's main port of Massawa.

Big Guns, Tanks Taken

The Italians, who left 15 artillery guns and 11 tanks behind, were reported retreating towards Keren, 50 miles further east. South of Agordat, British troops were said to be encircling the town of Barentu.

On the Libyan front, the general command in Cairo reported that operations were "proceeding smoothly." Entrenched in the mountains just west of the captured Fascist base of Derna, Italian troops were reported to be offering stubborn resistance.

Although the British advance is continuing through Cyrenaica, the slackening of speed in the drive is only natural, Cairo military quarters declared. Supplies must be renewed as the result of the assaults on Tobruk and Derna.

Willkie To Visit King; Tourist Given Empire's Data Concerning Damage

American, Planning To Leave For Washington Wednesday, Amazed After Viewing Ruins

LONDON, Feb. 3—Wendell L. Willkie completed a thorough tour of bombed area of the great northwestern British port of Liverpool today at the conclusion of his inspection commented:

"I am amazed at the way Britain is carrying on under these murderous attacks."

He was greeted by great crowds of Liverpool workers, who shouted: "Tell them (the United States) that we are carrying on. Let's have the stuff."

Later Willkie arrived at Manchester, where he inspected a concealed "shadow factory." He plans to leave for London at midnight tonight and probably will be received by King George VI of Britain and King Haakon of Norway tomorrow. Wednesday he is scheduled to depart for the United States via Lisbon.

Yesterday secret British figures on industrial damage caused by bombs were made fully accessible to Willkie.

To Correct Impression
Action of British officials in giving Willkie access to the secret damage figures was believed intended to correct any erroneous impressions that may exist in the United States.

(Editor's Note: Willkie also has received from British cabinet members a complete picture of British "war aims." He is scheduled to testify before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearings on the lend-lease bill in Washington on his return from England.)

Yesterday Willkie visited the blitzed midlands cities of Coventry and Birmingham and the heavily damaged northwestern seaport of Liverpool.

On his way to Coventry, cheering crowds greeted Willkie.

"American help can save us," they shouted. "Tell them about us when you get home."

Informed by Mayor John Moseley of Coventry that the city had been pounded with 1,200 high explosive and 35,000 incendiary bombs in a single attack, Willkie commented:

"The fire-blackened and battered Coventry cathedral spire, still standing upright, is a symbol to me of the spirit of Coventry and the spirit of all England."

"Damage to Coventry equals or exceeds what I expected, but I see no indication of any loss of morale or any weakening of determination to win."

QUALITY OF BRITAIN'S AIR FORCE SUFFICIENT TO HALT NAZI ATTACK?

LONDON, Feb. 3—With admitted numerical superiority in the air, Nazi Germany will launch its "all out" attack on Britain as soon as the weather and other circumstances are propitious, a high ranking officer of the Royal Air Force said today.

In a special interview with American correspondents, arranged to put an end to the flood of "fearsome rumors" which have spread during the last two weeks, the officer maintained that the RAF remains master of the luftwaffe despite inferior numbers.

"The issue," he said, "will again be one of quality versus quantity."

The present comparative lull in air warfare, he said, is due almost entirely to weather conditions. Both sides are profiting by the respite to consolidate strength.

GERMAN, VICHY AFFAIRS TENSE

New French National Union Committee Formed; Darlan Conference Declined

BERLIN, Feb. 3—German authorities kept close watch today on the French political situation and the developing controversy between Vichy and Paris regarding collaboration with the Reich.

German quarters announced Berlin would offer no objections to the formation in Paris of the new French "national union" committee, which favors full Franco-German collaboration.

Creation of this committee was regarded as the reply of Pierre Laval and his followers to circles in Vichy which oppose French collaboration with the Reich. Laval himself has come out flatly in favor of "cooperation with the new order in Europe."

Wilhelmstrasse authorities described the attitude of the German government toward the committee in Paris as "fatherly" but declined any admission of sponsorship of the committee. This attitude was maintained because of the possibility that the committee may seek to establish its own government in Paris as a rival to the Petain regime.

German quarters said the "fact remains" that Laval, either in cooperation with or in opposition to Petain, will soon play an important role in the French government.

Meanwhile, it was emphasized, Germany is steadfastly observing the terms of the Franco-German (Continued on Page Two)

SOLONS RETURN TO START WORK ON OHIO BILLS

COLUMBUS, Feb. 3—Members of the 94th General Assembly straggled back to the capital today for the fifth consecutive day as Republican legislative leaders prepared to push through the Bricker administration's 1941-42 program.

Both branches of the assembly were to convene at 7:30 p. m., but little was expected to be accomplished at the session, except introduction of additional bills. The deadline for introduction of legislation under House rules is a week from tonight.

Tomorrow, GOP leaders indicated, the slow-moving House would begin grinding out the first of the administration bills.

C. OF C. DIRECTORS MEET IN ORGANIZATION SESSION

British Raid Boulogne And Ostend; American Airmen In Initial Flight

REICH ATTACKS LONDON

Bomber Formations Keeping Watch For Attempt At Invasion

LONDON, Feb. 3—In swift retaliation for yesterday's British raids on German-held Boulogne and Ostend, in which American airmen participated, Nazi bombers unleashed new attacks on England today.

Five places in the London area were bombed by hit-run raiders but no alarms were sounded.

Simultaneously, it was learned that a British offensive bombing patrol blasted targets in northwestern France shortly before dawn in a renewal of the RAF counter-assault.

One German raider dived out of low clouds over a southeastern coastal town and released a stick of bombs that fell on a church, nearby houses and several other buildings. A number of persons were killed and injured.

Heavy anti-aircraft fire was believed to have hit and damaged the raider, which was driven off by a British spitfire fighting plane.

A few minutes later anti-aircraft guns went into action against a raider over the London suburbs. No air raid alarm was sounded.

The renewed attacks followed a night during which no German planes appeared over Great Britain.

Last night bad weather over the continent brought the RAF raids to a temporary halt.

A young couple was killed at Pataskala, 17 miles east of Columbus, when their auto was struck by a freight train. They were 18-year-old Eileen Stalter, a high school student, and her 19-year-old companion, Wayne Sanders. Highway patrolmen reported that the auto stopped for an east-bound train at the crossing in the center of the village, and then started across in the path of the west-bound freight.

Columbus recorded its fourth traffic fatality of the year with the death of Samuel Calert, 69, killed when struck by an auto as he attempted to cross a street.

Kenneth Cave, 12, of Cuyahoga Falls was dead today of injuries received when his sled collided with an automobile.

Myron F. Boden, 31, and Harold P. Smith, 21, both of Sandusky, were instantly killed when their automobile skidded "and crashed into a tree. Smith was the father of a three-day-old baby.

SHIRLEY'S BROTHER WEDS

RENO, Nev., Feb. 3—Jack Temple, 26-year-old brother of screen-dancer Shirley Temple, and his bride, the former Miriam Ellsworth, 20, of Los Altos, Cal., were honeymooning today after a Reno elopement.

16, 22, No 16

THE much-publicized marriage as a "child bride" of 16 to comedian George Jessel last year has bounced back at glamorous Lois Andrews Jessel. Because of her claim to such youth, the Boston licensing board ordered her banned as a night club entertainer, but when Mrs. Jessel said she really is nearly 22 years old—not 16, a telegram from the Los Angeles bureau of statistics settled the question. She actually is 16, so she was forced to give up her job.

STRIKE AT DOCK IN MOBILE ENDED BY YEAR'S PACT

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 3—A nine-day strike at the Alabama Dry Dock and Shipbuilding Company yards, busy with National Defense orders, was ended today following agreement on a contract between the company and the CIO's National Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers.

The contract, under which 3,400 employees were to return to their jobs immediately, was for one year and was hailed by John Green of Camden, N. J., national president of the union, as providing "the best shipyard wage scale south of Baltimore."

Under the pact, strikes and lock-outs are banned.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3—A conference arranged by Federal Conciliator David T. Roodley was scheduled today between officials of the International Harvester Company and CIO representatives, seeking a basis for settlement of a strike called against the Harvester Company's tractor works in Chicago last Wednesday. Several million dollars worth of government defense orders are being held up by the strike, in which 6,500 workers are idle.

JUDGE PLANS HEARING TO DECIDE LEGALITY OF LAW

COLUMBUS, Feb. 3—A federal court test of all so-called "Green River" ordinances in the state was in the offing today as Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood scheduled for tomorrow the hearing of an injunction suit filed by 26 Jehovah's Witnesses, who seek to prohibit London, O., authorities from interfering with their distribution of literature.

The witnesses were arrested and imprisoned January 12 on charges of violating such an ordinance by allegedly distributing pamphlets and soliciting funds without first securing a permit. They are free on bond.

The plaintiffs charge interference with their constitutional rights insofar as their freedom of worship and the freedom of the press is concerned.

Forty-five new cars, twenty-three of which were sold in Circleville, were sold in Pickaway County during January. The total number represents 11 different models.

TIRE DEALER PERFECTS NEW INCENDIARY BOMB BY USING OLD RUBBER

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Feb. 3—George N. Spencer, manager of a local tire firm, has patented a new-type incendiary bomb, with old rubber tires and a petroleum compound as the basic components, it was learned today.

Spencer's bomb is filled with strips of old tires, soaked in a petroleum compound. When it is exploded, the strips of blazing rubber float to the earth and generate a flame equal in intensity to burning celluloid, the inventor claims.

His idea is that the bombs should be dropped from an airplane, with automatic regulators detonating them a half-mile above the earth. Thus, the ribbons of flame would shower over a wide area.

JANUARY RELIEF EXPENSE LOWER

Marcy Reports Cost To City And County Half Of 1940's Amount

Total city and county relief expenses for January was $4,270.30, about half as much as in January 1940, Relief Director Delos Marcy told county commissioners Monday at their meeting. Relief expense for January last year was $8,556.40.

Better weather conditions with additional WPA labor has brought about the reduction, Director Marcy said. If weather conditions remain favorable during February, this month's relief expenses also should be cut in half, the relief director pointed out.

During their meeting Monday, commissioners employed Harry Riffle, East High Street, as county dog warden for February.

BERLIN—Three British merchant ships totalling 10,000 tons have been sunk off the east coast of England during the last 24 hours, it was stated in Berlin today. Authorities said a lone Stuka dive-bomber sank a 3,000-ton merchant vessel in the North Sea this morning.

LONDON—Asserting that the German luftwaffe had failed to shake British nerve, authoritative government quarters today disclosed that less than one percent of London's population has sought the safety of subway shelters from bombing attacks. Only 65,000 out of London's 8,655,000 populace used the subway shelters during the last week, spokesman said.

WORKERS AT STRAWBOARD ENDANGERED BY RIFLES

Police Chief William McCrady, Monday, warned Circleville youths against shooting firearms within the city limits as officials of the Container Corporation protested to police officers that boys have been shooting holes in fire buckets placed in the Container yards. The shooting has endangered the lives of men working around the straw racks in the yard, officials said.

Chief McCrady pointed out that it was unlawful for merchants to sell ammunition, firearms or air guns to minors under 17 and that whoever does so shall be fined not more than $100 and imprisoned in jail for not more than thirty days, or both.

The general code of Ohio also provides that it is unlawful to sell toy air pistols to minors under 16. Game Protector Clarence Francis also warned that it is unlawful to carry a gun off your own property without a hunting license.

MARTIN STRIVES TO RALLY VOTES TO DEFEAT BILL

Dissension Indicates F. D.'s Measure Will Pass In Unchanged Form

THREE DAY DEBATE OPENS

Question Of Harbor Use By British Ships One Of Most Vital

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—Speaker Sam Rayburn, shortly before the house was scheduled to begin debate today on the lease-lend bill, predicted passage by Friday night by a majority of between 100 to 125 votes.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—With the house poised for formal debate on the lease-lend bill, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee—still taking testimony on the measure—today heard former Governor Phil LaFollette of Wisconsin, charge that in 1939, Premier Daladier of France had personally told him that the Allies expected not only money and materials, but men from the United States.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—A serious split in the ranks of foes of President Roosevelt's lease-lend bill widened today as the house began three days' debate and the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee started hearing opposition witnesses.

While one group of foes of the bill demanded that it be killed, another group, anxious to aid England, but fighting alleged "dictator" powers in the bill, sought only to amend it.

The split, which aided the administration's chances for passage of a measure granting wide powers to Mr. Roosevelt to make the nation an "arsenal of democracy," was especially pronounced among Republicans but also affected Democratic ranks.

Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, and former Gov. Philip LaFollette of Wisconsin, were called as today's opposition witnesses. They will be followed during the week by Alfred M. Landon, former Republican presidential candidate; Gen. Robert E. Wood, Chicago, probably Charles A. Lindbergh and others opposing the bill.

Republican House Leader Martin, who approved a proposed substitute providing $2,000,000,000 credit for Britain, but who assailed the measure as destructive of parliamentary government, (Continued on Page Two)

MR. GROUNDHOG HINTS SPRING HERE, BUT COLDER WEATHER IS PREDICTED

Brother Groundhog says spring is practically here, Circleville's weatherman says cloudy and colder for Monday night and Tuesday, and those in Circleville and Pickaway County who place no stock in what either of them says decided to wait and see for themselves.

Pickaway County groundhogs, who last fall had set their alarm clocks for February 2, crawled out early Sunday, blinked, saw not a single ray of sunshine and decided it was time to prepare for spring.

The weatherman, determined to make his rival weather prognosticator a fraud, snooped about through his winter files and pulled out a prediction of snow and colder. He pushed temperatures Sunday up to 37 degrees, but to assure everyone that he knew what he was talking about, dropped them to 26 early Monday.

across the channel and attacked Nazi docks and airdromes at Boulogne, France, Ostend, in German-held Belgium, also took a pounding.

During these assaults at least four German combat planes were shot down, while the RAF lost only one fighter, the Air Ministry said.

One of the German machines, a Messerschmidt-109, was shot down in a spectacular air duel with a 28-year-old American-born flight officer who belongs to an RAF auxiliary squadron.

(Editor's Note: While British censorship did not permit identification of the American airman or his squadron, he apparently is a member of the American Eagle squadron. Last week it was announced this RAF unit had begun active duty.)

The British planes swooped low over the German "invasion platform" and bombed and machine-gunned massed German troop-transport barges moored at Boulogne. Other targets in the harbor also were attacked.

Three squadrons of Spitfires patrolled over the French and Belgium coasts to protect the raiders below. In some instances, it was reported, German bombers en route to Britain saw the swarming British planes and went off their courses, refusing to give battle.

The British anti-invasion patrols continued throughout the day. Returning British pilots said they had seen very few German planes over either the channel or the continental coast.

Military Damage Denied

(Editor's Note: A Berlin announcement said no military damage was caused when British planes raided an airdrome near Boulogne, adding that "several houses were destroyed and seven civilians were killed.")

The British assaults began in the darkness shortly before dawn Sunday, and after daybreak successive squadrons of planes roared across the channel and straits of Dover.

Later RAF coastal command planes carried out single dive attacks on the Nazi airdromes at Ostend and Berck. A German interceptor that attacked one of the British planes was shot down, it was stated.

In addition, from early morning until almost dusk, flocks of RAF fighters patrolled the entire English coastal area in a ceaseless vigil evidently undertaken to guard against any surprise Nazi invasion attempt.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—British naval swordfish "torpedo" planes—the type that attacked Italian fleet units at Taranto several months ago—carried out a successful assault against Sardinia yesterday, the admiralty announced today.

"Yesterday morning," said the communique, "naval swordfish aircraft carried out a successful attack on one of the main sources of power supply at Sardinia. One plane is missing."

ROME, Feb. 3.—Enemy planes "bombed and torpedoed" various localities in Sardinia, the Italian high command announced today.

A British Spitfire fighting plane was shot down at Via Reggio, the war bulletin added.

YOUTH TO BE FREED

Lloyd Flowers, Madison Township youth, serving time in the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield on two bad check charges, received a nolle of the second charge Monday after he had served his minimum sentences on the first charge. The nolle was granted in order that the youth might be released. Judge Meeker Terwilliger said.

FOX DRIVE PLANNED

SCHOOL BUS FUEL TAKEN

Twenty gallons of gasoline were stolen from a tank at the Jackson Township school Saturday night. Lloyd Petty, janitor at the school, told sheriff's officers. The gasoline was for school buses, the janitor said.

MARTIN STRIVES TO RALLY VOTES TO DEFEAT BILL

Martin saw a "good chance" of writing amendments into the bill designed to check Mr. Roosevelt's power demands and to prevent involvement in war if the two groups can be united.

House Leaders Confident

Democratic house leaders, planning the three days of debate as "window dressing," were confident of rolling up a big majority for the measure in the house. They seek passage by Friday night.

"The bill will pass the house as reported by the Foreign Affairs Committee by a minimum of 50 votes," said Rep. Bolland, Democratic whip. "Mind you, I said minimum. The majority may be 100 to 150, depending on the final shape of the bill."

With Martin declaring that opposition would not be placed on a partisan basis, it was expected that a coalition would be formed before crucial votes on amendments with a group of dissident Democrats.

The chief hope of foes is to amend the bill by providing for a $2,000,000,000 credit to Britain, removing discretionary powers of the President, prohibiting transfer of naval vessels without consent of congress, prohibiting consents and limiting repair and outfitting of foreign warships in American harbors to that permitted by international law.

Fleet Possibility Cited

Possibility of the British fleet fighting from American harbors in the event that Germany succeeds in invasion attempts, was raised by Sen. Byrnes (D) S. C., administration leader, and aroused deep interest.

"Of course such a condition might arise," Byrnes said, "and any man who said we should turn the British fleet away and let it surrender to Hitler under those conditions would be shot."

Rep. Marcantonio (Al) N. Y., said the administration expects the British fleet to fight on from U. S. ports if England fails and "that means, of course, we will go into the war with them."

MOUNT PLEASANT PLANS HUNT, TURKEY DINNER

CAVALCADE OF AMERICA

Cavalcade of America, as its latest chapter of America's autobiography, has dramatized the fight of Henry Clay to avert the Civil War, in a dramatic radio play, "Henry Clay of Kentucky" presented Wednesday.

The play tells the behind-the-scenes story of the fight of Henry Clay and his supporters to effect a compromise between the North and South, and thus avert the Civil War. This was Henry Clay's last gift to the nation after a lifetime of political service. He was some 73 years old when he began his battle of compromise, and with the stalwart aid of several veterans as Daniel Webster, succeeded in at least postponing the inevitable war until after Clay's death several years later.

Because Frank Forest's Metropolitan Opera friends have been asking the tenor for permission to appear on his Sunday "Double or Nothing" program, the popular tenor has arranged for two of them to participate on the quiz show Sunday. As for which two it will be, they're settling it among themselves at this moment.

armistice, and will continue to do so.

Earlier, it was reported that German authorities in Paris, rejected Petain's offer to renew Franco-German collaboration negotiations.

The official German News Agency, DNB, reported that French Naval Minister Admiral Jean Darlan, Petain's emissary, had been informed that negotiations could not be resumed "so long as Vichy fails clearly to realize the new situation."

(Meanwhile, in London General Charles De Gaulle's "Free French" news agency reported that Germany is demanding governmental changes at Vichy and French concessions in the Mediterranean, believed to include granting of Bizerte and Tunisia for use as Nazi war bases.)

WOLCOTT OF RICE WINS MILLROSE GAME TROPHY

By Pat Robinson

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Track and field fans today were agreed that Fred Wolcott of Rice Institute is the greatest hurdler the world has even seen.

The tall Texan was awarded the John Wanamaker trophy for the best performance of all the champions and near champions at the Millrose games in Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

He richly deserved the honors for he was the only athlete among hundreds competing who was able to break a world record.

He did this by topping the 60-inch high hurdles in 7.2 seconds, one tenth second under the old figures.

Wolcott has a terrific burst of speed and he skims over the timbers like a sailfish over a wave.

His hurdling form is faultless and his consistency over the sticks has never been surpassed.

DICTATORS' FALL HINTED IN TALK AT FARM EVENT

Dr. Felix Held Declares Attempted Invasion Of Britain May Be Fatal

"PROMISES" DISCUSSED

United States Must Not Forget Its Domestic Problems, He Says

With a critical, but optimistic, interpretation of the present war conditions in Europe, Dr. Felix Held, Ohio State University, called for a strengthening of America's political, moral and economic structure and a promotion of wholesome ideals among its young people as our chief defense against totalitarianism, as he spoke at the annual Farm Bureau banquet in Memorial Hall Saturday night.

"Dictators, no matter how powerful they may seem, are not invincible," he told the crowd of more than 200 persons, and pointed to the reverses of the Italian armies in Africa and Greece as an indication that Fascist domination in Italy may be toppling. Victories of the Greeks and the present unrest in the Italian provinces of Africa are making it more and more difficult for Mussolini to keep his promises to his people and "when a dictator's word is not kept, he ceases to be a dictator," the university professor said.

"Hitler also may find it difficult to keep his promises to the German people. He has maintained that his stand against the world has been primarily one to break British domination of world trade. Last week he promised his people that before another year he would launch the entire might of the Nazi war machine against Britain, a greater offensive than Britain has yet seen. The offensive may be one of throwing thousands of forces against the British defenses in a final 'gamble' chance," Dr. Held remarked, "but if Hitler expects to keep his word, that drive against Britain must come."

Should Hitler have a third of the land and air forces which he claims, the English people will suffer severely, the speaker said. The attack may come with waves of air forces pounding British coastal defenses with bombs, incendiary bombs and perhaps gas, followed by a transportation of Nazi land forces across the Channel by means of barges. Should such an attack be successful, Nazi provincial governments would be set up in conquered territory, similar to those set up in Poland, France and other Nazi-conquered countries.

British Ready
"Britain is not asleep, however," Dr. Held declared. Reports are that every inch of the British coast line is heavily fortified and with British moral high, the actual overrunning of Britain will not take place.

"If Hitler does undertake a large scale invasion of Britain, and he has promised his people that he will, and if he should fail, and the British defenses make it appear likely that he will, the Hitler regime will begin to weaken, and the Nazis may lose their entire control over already conquered territories."

"As a dictator conquers more and more territory, he is able to exercise less and less power over it," Dr. Held pointed out. "The empire tends to become topheavy, a condition which modern trends seem to indicate is happening in Germany as well as Italy."

America's position? "If we turn our attention to the wholesale production of war materials and to those things relating to war, and forget our domestic problems, we will turn ourselves into an ambitious war machine and gradually lose our soul as a nation," Dr. Held warned. "Our present National Defense program has not done that," he said, "but such a condition is not impossible even in the United States."

As a safeguard against such a condition, he appealed to the people of the United States to turn their attention to a political, economic and moral, as well as military defense program, and build for America a lasting peace.

Dr. Held's talk on "World Affairs" was the feature of Saturday evening's program, climaxing the annual joint meeting of the Pickaway Livestock Cooperative Association and the Farm Bureau. Music during the banquet was furnished by the County Grange orchestra under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Reber. Other special music was provided by Mrs.

THREE SHORT COURSES PREPARED FOR OHIOANS

Pickaway Countians engaged in agriculture and related industries are invited to participate in three short courses at Ohio State University during February.

A canners' short course is set for February 11-12, as a clearing house for problems of interest to the canners, their field men, the growers, and supply men.

Set for February 11-14 is a four-day conference on dairy technology problems, intended primarily for those with some dairy plant experience.

The sixth Ohio Corn Hybrid School will be held February 13-14, with emphasis on principles underlying the developing, testing, production, and processing of high quality seed.

The canners' and corn hybrid courses are free, while a one dollar fee is charged to cover laboratory work in the dairy conference.

He is survived by one brother, Jacob, of near Tarleton. Friends may call at the residence anytime until the hour of service.

Aims Discussed

C. C. Bair, field supervisor for the Ohio Farm Bureau, spoke briefly of the aims of the Farm Bureau and asked for organization, cooperation and education among rural people as a means of improving farm conditions. The Pickaway County Farm Bureau membership goal for 1941 has been set at 450 members, he said.

Philip Reichelderfer and Harold Hoover, county 4-H Club livestock winners, sent to the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago by Circleville Industries, gave the audience an outline of the highlights of their trip. H. C. Hines, chairman of the program committee, acted as toastmaster.

Musical games and recreation, under the direction of County Agent F. K. Blair, followed the evening's program.

equal diplomatic rank with Vice President-elect Wallace. The House of Representatives, Sol proclaimed, voted the money for the executive branch of the government, and he did not care to be outranked by anybody.

So when Mr. Bloom walked into the Mexican Chamber of Deputies and found Henry Wallace seated in the Diplomatic Gallery for the presidential inauguration, he was fit to be tied. In fact, he raised so much fuss that the Mexicans, anxious to please, finally gave Sol and Mrs. Bloom seats on the floor of the Chamber.

This was the first time in history that a woman had sat on the floor of the Mexican Chamber.

Later, at the fiesta for honored guests, Sol yelled to John Bankhead, U. S. trade commissioner, to "make that man sit down!" "That man" was none other than the Mexican Foreign Minister.

"PEOPLE IN TRADE"

Arriving at a luncheon for the President, Sol found that he was not to be seated with Wallace and Avila Camacho. So he left. Embarrassed, American Embassy officials explained that he was ill. But when Henry Wallace called to see how Sol was feeling, he found him at Sanborn's restaurant enjoying a healthy repast.

By this time Lamar Hardy, former District Attorney of New York, cracked down on the Chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee with: "Listen, Sol, I knew you back in the days when you were just peddling photographs."

However, there was one honored guest who stood up for him—Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, statuesque wife of the ex-Secretary of War.

"I can understand Mr. Bloom's point of view," she said. "After all, he represents Congress, which is the legislative branch of the U. S. Government."

But when the honored American guests attended the luncheon by President Avila Camacho, the Blooms rode in the same car with the Patrick Hurleys, and Sol subsequently complained that he had to ride with people who were in Mexico "on trade."

NOTE—Hurley is the representative of the Sinclair Oil Company and has negotiated an oil settlement with Mexico.

HOOVER'S AMENDMENTS

Herbert Hoover made another secret sortie into the Capital last week—his second in a month.

On his previous visit he conferred with a few political and press intimates about his campaign to force the British to open their blockade to permit shipment of food to Nazi-occupied Europe. But this time he had the lend-lease bill on his mind.

As on his first trip, Hoover held forth at the home of William Castle, soft-spoken Under Secretary of State in his cabinet, close adviser of Colonel Lindbergh, and one of the master minds of isolation. For the occasion, Castle gave a private dinner and invited a small group of Republican isolationist leaders, among them Senators Vandenberg and Taft.

The ex-President vigorously denounced the lend-lease bill as "dictatorial" and urged that every effort be made to "blackout," as he expressed it, the broad powers it would give Roosevelt to aid Britain.

According to Hoover's explanation of his position, he favors a bill under which the British would be lent a stated sum of money for the purchase of armaments and materials here, but only after putting up as collateral British capital investments in the U. S.

Hoover expressed a desire to have his ideas offered as amendments when the bill is debated in the Senate, and it was agreed that he should draft the amendments.

NOTE—All present at the dinner voiced hot disapproval of Willkie's endorsement of the Roosevelt bill and junket to London. The term "irresponsible" was used several times to describe his action.

CAPITAL CHAFF

Senator Burt Wheeler, who loves nothing better than to investigate, soon may spring a demand for a probe of the Federal Communications Commission. Behind the move is the National Association of Broadcasters, which has been quietly urging a FCC inquiry for a long time.

It was a young GOP first-termer, Representative D. Lane Powers of New Jersey, who came to the defense of War Secretary Stimson when some of the older members of the House Military Affairs Committee wanted to blast him for asking them to come to his office for a private hearing. The touchy veterans felt Stimson should have come to them, but Powers prevailed on them not to make an "incident" of it.

Senator Prentiss Brown of Michigan is boosting his friend Al Tarvarozzi of Detroit for secretary of the State Boxing Commission.

ASHVILLE

By S. D. Fridley
Ashville, Phone 76

If and when, Monday evening, you take a little time out to glance at these items, you will learn that two sessions of the Ashville-Harrison Farmers' Institute have passed into history. Speaker White has delivered two and Mrs. Steva one of their educational and entertaining talks to a fair sized first day audience. The splendidly prepared and served dinner at the Brethren church basement dining room has been disposed of with the evening meal awaiting patrons. The corn, potato and food show entries for prize awards are all in place and we'll be telling you about the winners when once the awards have been placed. And taking you back there not less than fifty years, when these farmers institutes were held in the then Steward's hall, now Plum's, a lady speaker, an attorney, gave a talk to the institute audience and while she was doing this, some of the ladies took good care of her dear little babe. Have contacted several active in institute work at that time who recall the incident, but fail along with us, to call the name. We are paging our good friend Clarence Swower of the Capital City, a long time telephone trouble shooter whose business it is to find out things, to add this one move to his list.

Quite a few of the men armed with guns, put on another fox hunt Saturday in Walnut Township territory and were successful in killing two and holding up two in a den. Next Saturday another hunt with guns, will be staged in Washington Township, the hunters to meet at the school building there at 9:30 o'clock. The ladies of the community will serve meals for the hunters at the school at the noon hour. Another hunt in the afternoon.

Yesterday was groundhog day and if Old Sol got any shining done, we failed to see it. So spring is close around the corner if the woodchuck sign means anything. But Charley Sherman tells us that that groundhog they had as a pet at his home when he was a youngster, was too dumb to know about February 2, and slept right on until it warmed up usually in April, he said. Along in November it started its winter nap well below the ground surface, in a well built nest composed of many articles.

According to Hartley Peters of near the Madison Township school, the thousands of crows which hold their spring convention there, have not yet put in their appearance. Prof. Elmer Rayman, of Lakewood, Ohio, has our thanks for a printed entertainment program of The Borrowed Time Club. Prof. Rayman, it will be recalled was the first teachers of the Madison Township High School, the first of its kind in the county. We are naming 1880 as the year. Many claim that this township high school was the first one in the state. But this claim has not yet been substantiated by the state school records. Charles Timmons and family will occupy the Cardwell dwelling on West Main Street about the middle of the present month. The local K. of P. lodge has taken on active life by the addition of several new members. At one time when lodges were in "full bloom" this Ashville order had a membership of near 250. Blaine and Mrs. Plum of Dayton were here over the week end at the Baum home on East Main Street.

Persons between the ages of 15 and 30 constitute 50 percent of the population of the United States, but they are 73 percent of the criminals.

PRESIDENT BEVIS LAUDS SELECTION OF TWO MEN

COLUMBUS, Feb. 3—The appointment by Governor Bricker of Charles F. Kettering and the re-appointment of Herbert S. Atkinson to the Ohio State University Board of Trustees was commended today by University President Howard L. Bevis.

Dr. Bevis said that both men had obtained their education at Ohio State "the hard way," and that both had made great contributions to the University.

The present asserted that Kettering, General Motors' great research scientist, would be helpful particularly in guiding the university's participation in the national defense training program. Atkinson, at present chairman of the board, has been a trustee since 1925.

At The Grand

In the new screen musical hit, "No, No, Nanette," Anna Neagle finds herself fending off three designing females who are making a strong play for "Uncle" Roland Young's bank account. And is uncle cooperating? Well — ah — you know how it is. It's rated as one of the happiest pictures of the year, and RKO Radio's cast includes Richard Carlson, Victor Mature, Helen Broderick, ZaSu Pitts, Eve Arden, Tamara, Billy Gilbert and Stuart Robertson. It appears Wednesday and Tuesday at the Grand.

ONE BOY DROWNS; BUDDY, 16, IS MAKING RECOVERY

DEFIANCE, O., Feb. 3—Sixteen-year-old Richard Snyder was recovering today from a plunge through the ice on the Auglaize River which brought death by drowning to his 11-year-old companion, Roland Bell. Firemen rescued Snyder after he clung to the edge of the ice for half an hour.

BAD RELATIONS

A PUBLICATION of the Nazi foreign office called "Berlin-Rome-Tokyo" accuses the United States government of
"consciously and systematically poisoning
relations between Germany and the United States and harboring plans for Anglo-
Saxon world domination."

Our government and people seem innocent of the first charge. A vast majority of Americans are convinced that it is Hitler and his Nazi leaders, especially Propaganda Minister Goebbels, who by their words and deeds have poisoned relations between the two countries. Without their evil words and deeds, the vast majority of Americans would still be friends of Germany.

We may plead guilty to the second
charge of "harboring plans for Anglo-Saxon world domination," to the extent of keeping world power out of the hands of Hitler and Mussolini and their associates who acknowledge no right but force. The difference here is that the Nazi-Fascist
powers would enslave the world, whereas
the democratic powers would set it free.

JUSTIFIED WAR

SOME pacifists believe that any peace is good and any war is bad. Others do not consider peace, or the mere absence of belligerency, to be a good thing in itself.
There are also persons like Bertrand Russell, the British philosopher, who consider causes and effects and decide that some wars are justified and others are not. The American Revolution was one which he considered justifiable.

Bertrand Russell opposed the World War of 1914-1918 from beginning to end
and was imprisoned for his stand against
it. His statement of his attitude then and now might clarify the thinking of some troubled Americans. In a letter to the New York Times, the other day, Mr. Russell said:

"With regard to the present war: I
opposed it in advance because, although I thought that in this case there was a principle worth fighting for, the information
that I had been able to collect convinced
me that this principle could not be preserved by the war. Many Englishmen shared this view. It appeared that modern war would be so frightful as to be worse than conquest by Hitler. But while war, though bad enough, has proved less terrible than we expected, conquest by Hitler has in many countries proven even worse.

"It was soon after the conquest of Poland that I decided and publicly announced that I wished to support the war

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

DOLLAR-A-YEAR MEN IN STRUGGLE

WASHINGTON—This city has been aware for some time of a brewing conflict beneath the surface of the vast national defense program. The basic issue is whether defense shall be dominated by the ideas and methods of public men of proven service, or by the new group of dollar-a-year private business men.

This inner conflict now is coming to a head in the furious scramble for the key post of executive secretary of the new super-defense agency, Office of Production Management.

The two OPM chiefs, William Knudsen
and Sidney Hillman, have been working for several weeks on an administrative set-up to be submitted to the President for final approval. They are having no difficulty, but certain of Knudsen's ambitious assistants are causing a lot of undercover churning by their efforts to land
key jobs.

One of them is Fred Eaton, dollar-a-year Wall Street lawyer, who has his eye
on the potent post of OPM executive secretary.

Eaton, as Knudsen's general counsel in the old Defense Commission, repeatedly clashed with laborites. He is a close friend of John Biggers, dollar-a-year glass manufacturer, who also was a Knudsen aide in the Defense Commission and now is head of the OPM Raw Materials Division. When the executive order setting up the OPM
was being drafted, Eaton and Biggers
tried to sidetrack Hillman—and it took direct White House intervention to stop them.

Administration leaders, very critical of Eaton's Wall Street background and outlook, are urging selection of an executive secretary of proven public service. Their candidates are Dean James Landis of the Harvard Law School, former Federal Trade Commissioner and chairman of the

NOTE—Another Defense official who is after an important OPM place is William R. McReynolds, civil service secretary of the Defense Commission. Although in disfavor with certain members of the Commission because of his handling of personnel, McReynolds has a strong drag at the White House and with Knudsen, and the inside word is that he has nailed down the strategic job of contact man between the OPM and other government agencies.

SOL'S "BLOOMERS"

Genial Sol Bloom is doing a good job
as chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, but while visiting Mexico for the inauguration of President Avila Camacho he certainly got into a lot of Mexican hair.

Sol pulled so many bonehead plays that a word was coined for them—"Bloomers."
Shortly after his arrival at the Reforma
Hotel he announced that he should have

in any way I could. If I were younger I would have volunteered."

This view puts the question on a basis
entirely different from the pacifist choice between peace and war. It is a choice between two evils, the greater of which is Hitlerism, or slavery.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

NEWS from continental Europe
doesn't mean much in these war times. It's too much doctored by the various belligerent governments.

Dispatches from England are considerably less than fully informative, due to suppressions by
the censorship office, but apparently they don't outright lie. Continental cables evidently do; they tell stories that gradually turn out to differ from subsequently revealed facts.

For many years Britain's big news gathering and distributing agency has been Reuters. It corresponds to our own International News Service and our Associated
and United Presses. The name, Reuters, sounds German, but the agency is as British as John Bull.
Not in England alone, it has correspondents and a public
throughout the world. Undoubtedly it's greatly handicapped by today's London censorship, but it seems to remain as honestly independent as it's permitted to be.

Germany's essential agency
used to be Wolff. It always was subsidized by the Berlin government, but nominally it was privately controlled. Now it has vanished from the scene, supplanted by the frankly official
DNE, headed by Herr Goebbels.
Through him, of course, Fuehrer
Hitler dictates everything it says.
Russia's agency, under Soviet

rule, is Tass, Comrade Stalin's
mouthpiece, naturally.

Italy's is Stefani; France's is Havas.

Stefani and Havas chronically
have been governmentally subsidized but theoretically independent. Stefani still pretends to be so, though it isn't, needless to remark.

HAVAS IS GONE

But Havas, as anything but a name, is no more. It never was
as far-flung an outfit as our American agencies or as Reuters. Nevertheless, it was sizable—at least next after Reuters. Toward the end of December, though, it was announced
from Vichy that an information
office had been established there by the Petain regime, that Havas
had been bought out bodily and that, henceforth, the government
will collect and distribute all French news. That any actual buying was done I can't guarantee; it may have been a case of confiscation. Anyway, the con-cern's governmentalized by Vichy 100 percent—meaning that it's governmentalized by Berlin.

I ask, how can anybody place
the slightest confidence in such
news sources as DNE, Tass, Stefani and the present Havas? Reuters can be trusted to do its best,
but those others? Oh, my! Ever-
the French always have had their news oddities. Which recalls a funny incident.

Some years before the last
World War I was European manager for an American news collecting agency. London was my headquarters but I was responsible for the continent, too. From London I sent to New York whatever dispatches I pleased and didn't, at first, realize that Paris
wasn't so journalistically free.

Well, we had in Paris, as correspondent, one F. Warrington
Dawson. He was of New Orleans
French origin and one of the most enthusiastically French boosters I ever met. In due course he developed a dislike of our agency
and quit his job.

William Philip Simms, a well-
known American newspaperman,
was named to succeed him. Phil hadn't been in Paris long before
there was a bad Seine River flood.
Phil reported it. This enraged the Gallic government, on the ground
that flood news was calculated to put a damper on Paris' American tourist trade. Accordingly Phil
was warned that the next time he'd be expelled from France. I streaked it from London to take up his case with the United States embassy. The Paris foreign office's attitude was, "Oh,
well, let it go this one time."

DIET AND HEALTH

Ice Bags and Such

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Do hot water bags or electric pads do any good? Does an ice bag
help a headache?

The skeptic finds reasons for scoffing at these practices. The heat from a hot water bag, he says, only heats up the superficial
layers of the skin—so how can it
help a pain way down deep in your stomach? And the same with the ice bag on the head—how can
it help the ache in the brain that comes from a congestion of blood
vessels following an evening out?

Dr. Clendinging will answer questions of general interest
only, and then only through his column.

But in the meantime, in spite of the scoffing, the great mass of mankind keeps putting on the ice
bag and the electric pad wherever and whenever there is a pain and seem to believe that they help.

And mankind in its way is right, and the scoffing, with his brilliant reasoning is wrong—so say the latest investigations of Science. The scoffing just doesn't know enough facts. Human tissues may not be the best conductors of heat or cold but they have some conducting properties nevertheless.

Relieves Throbbing

Dr. William Bierman and Dr.
Mae Friedlander, reporting to the American Congress of Physical Therapy, reported observations on a patient from whom a brain tumor had been removed. It was possible to insert a thermocouple
into the frontal part of the brain
and they found that when an ice
cap was placed on the forehead
the brain was cooled to a depth of
two inches a degree and a half Fahrenheit. This would be enough to have an effect on the blood vessels and relieve the throbbing.
Heat applied to the surface of the abdomen has been shown to penetrate the internal organs. It produces its soothing effect first

from the influence of heat on the sensory nerve endings and then on the blood vessels and finally on
the movements—aspirin—of the stomach and intestines.

Drafts and Tissues

Drafts also affect the temperature of tissues far below the surface. We are inclined to believe that drafts bring discomfort
either from only a reflex action or because of sensitiveness on the part of the individual. But these researches show that a cool draft
directed on the calf cools the muscles beneath as much as 11 degrees. This certainly would be enough to induce muscular rheumatism and stiffness and sore-ness. An ice bag applied to the calf lowers the temperature of the muscles underneath 26 degrees Fahrenheit.

The effect of the external application of heat and cold is physiologically exactly the same—both
dull nerve endings, and cause
identical changes in the blood vessels. The body, however, can stand a greater range of cold temperature than heat and it is probable there is a greater future in the use of cold for therapeutic purposes.

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Harry Margulis, Ashville mayor, reported court business in the village during January extremely quiet. During this first month of his term, not a single case was heard.

Mrs. George Banning of Columbus entertained 39 guests at a luncheon at the home of her father, C. A. Weldon, of West
Union Street.

Mrs. Clark Will of West Mound
Street was hostess at a pre-nuptial tea honoring her niece, Miss Ellen Jones Bennett, of South
Court Street whose engagement to Mr. Albert E. M. Louer of Chicago, Ill., had just been announced.

10 YEARS AGO

George Rader, son of Mr. and
Mrs. Frank Rader of East Mill Street, was severely scalded when he slipped and fell at his home
while carrying a tea-kettle of hot water.

Fred Foust, Columbus, George
Hoffman and Jap Poling of Tarleton were seriously injured
in an accident on the Adelphi Pike, near Laureville, when the new Hudson automobile owned and driven by Foust skidded on loose gravel and was almost completely wrecked.

Mrs. Max Friedman underwent
an operation in Grant Hospital, Columbus.

25 YEARS AGO

J. E. Kerr of Renwick, Ia., son-in-law of E. T. Tootle of Wayne Township, visited at the Tootle home and purchased 25 bushels of Yellow Dent seed corn
from John Carter of Kinderhook,
to use on his Iowa farm.

A canvass of old soldiers disclosed the fact that there were only 79 Civil War veterans living in Circleville.

George Frenk, Circleville artist,
had in the display window of
G. P. Teegardin's drug store a painting, his "conception" of the war in Europe.

MONDAY'S astrological fore-

and interesting day, probably with much creative accomplishment in the realm of higher or intellectual expression rather than the commonplace, although business pertaining to writings, publications,
promotion and communications
should thrive.

Those whose birthday it is may
prepare for a safety constructive
and productive year, with much
of interest in connection with publicity, writings, promotional enterprises or other literary manifestation, as the mind should be well poised and logical. This is very fortunate as there may be trials, discord and a destructive
and turbulent situation to con-

should have a steady, balanced
and logical mind equipping it to meet wisely discordant situations.

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE

WHEN Mrs. Gould's wild cry,
"Cary! You will save my girl?"
tore through the silence, my gaze fell on Johnny's face. He was looking past me to where Cary stood by the door. On his face was scorn
which lashed me to a realization of the truth.

Cary was afraid!

I lived years in the next few minutes. Janet's story of the wreck of the Titanic and its influence on Cary came back to me.
But that was different! A man might fear and dread anything, but he couldn't listen to what Johnny
had told and allow his fear to rule
him. Cary must, he must, conquer
his phobia and go to Kaye's assistance.

The silence dragged on. Why didn't he speak, do something?
Things I had seen or heard in the past came thronging into my mind.
Cary's convulsive shiver when the sound of the surf came to my ears
the night he and Kaye brought me
from the station. Kaye's jeering:
"They'll never build a bridge to France, you know." Janet's plea to her cousins. Mark's arrogant
condescension, his scornful terming Cary a "quill driver." Miss Al-thea's calling him a "craven coward."

Craven coward!

They knew him better than I did. I had thought him to be pitied for what he could not help. But now—I glanced again at Johnny.
His expression froze me. A 12-
year-old boy was registering contempt for the man I loved!

I forced myself to turn toward the door. An iron hand seemed to close over my heart, gripping it,
squeezing in a choking grip the flame which burned there. I turned sick with despair.

Cary crumpled against the door casing. His face was buried in his arm; his body was shaking in the grip of his overmastering emotion.

I opened my lips to speak, but Janet forestalled me.

"I'll go, Aunt Beulah. I won't be a minute, Johnny. Eat all you can
before I come back; you need it."
She flew to the door, stopped, rested her hand on Cary's trembling shoulder.

"Never mind, Cary. I understand!"

She rushed through the door. I heard her racing up the stairs.
How could she do that? How could she have love or understanding for
that shivering wretch collapsed
into abject pusillanimity? Love couldn't exist in the face of such a dastardly exhibition. That "someday" I had granted Cary was wiped out as far as I was concerned.

I turned to Mrs. Gould. She had slapped me into a chair. After that first appeal to her nephew, she did not speak to him again.

I heard quick steps in the hall.
Cary staggered by me to the window and looked out into the storm.
What was he thinking? What sort of private hell was he living through?

Alice brought in a pot of steaming chocolate, an enormous slice of hot roast for and another plate of bread and butter. She placed the tray on a table and, without speaking, went out. I saw tears rolling down her cheeks and was sure
that, as usual, in a way not explainable to the rest of us, the servants were aware of the information Johnny had brought.

I poured out the chocolate,
placed a chair by the table and told Johnny to make as much of a meal
as he could while waiting for Janet.

"Gee, Miss Nancy, but you folks
are swell," he said. "Most folks
would have thrown me out after
what I told you."

"I don't see why they should,"
I said crisply. "You're not to blame for what someone else does." That was as near as I dared go to mention of his father. That every bit that you can, Johnny. You'll need all the strength it will give you."

Strengthen! Janet was tall, well-formed; I was sure she was as strong as a girl can well be. But, after all, she was a girl. Would she, with only Johnny's help, be able to turn the trick?

I flew out of the room. Up the stairs to Janet. I dashed. She was just coming into the hall.

"What is it, Janet. I panted.
"I'm coming. I can help."

But Janet refused my offer.
"No, Nancy," she said. "You're only a little bit of a thing. You stay here and look after Aunt Beulah and Cary."

I think she saw my face harden
at her last word. I know I felt my muscles involuntarily stiffen.

Her hand fell insistently on my arm.

"You don't know, Nancy; you can't know what he's going through. I have only vague ideas of it. Don't be too bitter; you may be sorry some day." Her hand fell;
she started down the hall.

I looked after her. I couldn't say to her the things which surged to my lips. She had her own burden to bear; she loved her brother, and I would only hurt her unnecessarily.

I bit my lip until the sickly
salt taste of blood filled my mouth.
Did she think that I could ever overlook his cravenness, ever respect him again?

She was halfway down the hall
when she suddenly stopped and ran back to me. My heart leaped.
Was she going to let me go with her?

"Nancy," her voice was low and urgent, "go up to the attic and watch me from there. You can just see the bridge through the trees.
If I—don't make it, send Alice to Wetuxet for help. Remember, I'm depending on you!"

"I will, Janet. I will!" My whole being was stirred by admiration
for her. She must think she was going into danger yet she did not flatter. She should have been the man, Cary the girl!

I raced to the head of the stairs

FEDERAL GLASS INVADES C. A. C.

Fast Columbus Team Booked For Thursday Night; Team Enters A. A. U. Event

Circleville Athletic Club-Stone's Grill cagers will take on another fast aggregation Thursday evening when Federal Glass, Columbus Class A Industrial League champion, invades the C.A.C. court.

Many of the Federal Glass team members appeared here several weeks ago with the Bobb Chevrolts, winner over the C.A.C. in a thriller. Included in the squad are Meyers, Golden, Foster, Mac Sims, Boling, Devaney, Kaib and Gatoff. The preliminary will bring the C.A.C. reserves together with the Whistling Five from Whisler. The C.A.C. outfit will be entered in the Agonia Club's A. A. U. tournament to be held later in Columbus. Negotiations are on for the appearance of the "Chinese" team that defeated Waterloo Wonders Sunday night in Columbus.

DARBY VICTORIOUS

A belated report from the Saltcreek-Darby Township game played last Friday shows the home team victor in a 33-28 contest. Saltcreek led 18-8 at halftime, but fell by the wayside after two varsity boys left the game on personal fouls. Ralph Waldo was the official.

Oak Hill, Washington C.H. On Circleville Schedule

Circleville High cagers, who have been playing in and out basketball in the last couple of weeks, take on two worthy foes this week with Oak Hill and Washington C. H. invading the C.A.C. balliwick.

Oak Hill comes to Circleville Tuesday evening to return a game played there last year, one that the Red and Black won in a battle. The strength of the Oak Hill team this year is unknown, but a good game is expected.

The Red and Black reserves, beaten only once this year, take on the fast Kingston varsity in the preliminary at 7:15, and will face a real test. Sibrell, forward, and Jordan, center, are Kingston's offensive threats.

The Friday evening game will be another in the South Central Ohio League, the Tigers failing to win any of five played to date. Washington C. H. lost a thriller 49-51 to Bexley last Friday and appears to be much improved over its early season form when football tactics were used in an effort to win cage games. The county schedule is heavy this week with the Deercreek team facing two tests that will go a long way to determine the county league champion. The Williamsport boys, beaten only by Ashville by a single point, take on Monroe, Tuesday, at Five Points, and Pickaway, Friday, at Sulphur Springs hall. Other games Friday pit New Holland at Walnut, Scioto at Saltcreek, Darby at Ashville, Perry at Washington and Monroe at Jackson.

HOT DEBATE ON CONCERNING JOE LOUIS' ABILITY

Some Believe Bomber Has Slipped, But Handlers Issue Denial

By Lawton Carver
International News Service
Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—One of the hottest pugilistic debates to develop in months has been raging around here since Friday night, with the sports experts, as they are called, split into opposing factions on the question of whether Joe Louis has slipped or is fighting with his same old vigor.

The heavyweight champion has brought on the deluge of words pro and con by virtue of his two most recent performances—against Al McCoy at Boston in December and against Red Burman here. Louis didn't look too cool against McCoy, but largely because the latter declined to get involved in a spirited altercation, and finally retired when one of his eyes was slammed shut. Against Burman, Louis was as good as ever to some and unimpressive to others in scoring a lustrous five round knockout.

John Roxborough, co-manager of the champion, stepped into the discussion today with this observation: "We were perfectly satisfied with Joe's showing and we don't feel that we have a thing to worry about in the rest of his four fights through June when he will take on Billy Conn. We didn't see anything in the Burman fight to indicate that Joe has slipped. Don't overlook that Burman has been fighting ever since he was a flyweight and was knocked out only once before in his career, and that about five years ago. He was rated just behind Max Baer and Conn as a contender in this year's ratings. What does Joe have to do to look good?"

Louis Elated
Trainer Jack Blackburn, Co-Manager Julian Black and Louis himself were elated over what they thought was an impressive victory, Burman being one of the few men to get in there and really slug.

It may be significant that, after setting Burman up with a terrific right to the chin in the fourth, in the next round Louis scored his first knockout with body punches since he polished off Charlie Massera in 1934. In reply to Roxborough's defense, Johnny Ray, manager of Conn, who is rated as a real threat to Louis, had this to say: "Louis has lost his coordination, is punch shy and pushes, instead of snapping, his punches. He never was a great fighter, but he used to punch fast and hard. Now that he has lost his zing, he is as good as a gone gossin against Billy in that June fight—if he doesn't get belted out in the meantime."

Without trying to get authoritative about the thing, but rather simply to add an opinion, the writer would like to get a word in edgewise to the effect that Louis looked no different than he ever has. Burman took a brutal beating and, because of his lack fourth, in the next round Louis in trouble.

South African Troops Patrol Trouble Scene

JOHANNESBURG, Feb. 3 — Following 36 hours of bloody street fighting in which 140 persons were injured, British troops and police reinforcements today patrolled Johannesburg in armored cars.

The wild riots, which began Friday night and ended Sunday, were precipitated by pro-German Boer Republican extremists and constituted the most serious outbreak of its kind within the British Empire since the beginning of the war.

Thousands of citizens joined in the street fighting and order was not restored until troops and police broke up the mobs with tear gas bombs and baton charges.

South African authorities traced the disorders to differences between civilians and soldiers following a meeting Friday night of the Ossewabrandwag, an anti-British organization.

As the riotous fighting spread throughout this city of 260,000 inhabitants, soldiers attacked the offices of the Ossewabrandwag, the building of the Nationalist newspaper Transvaaler, and the newspaper Vaderland.

At the Vaderland, published by former South African Premier General J. B. M. Herzog whose opposition to South Africa's entry into the war resulted in the loss of his government post, the soldiers wrecked presses and smashed windows.

Most of the 140 persons hospitalized were soldiers. Scores of others were less seriously hurt.

DANCER'S BODY FOUND IN OCEAN AFTER DROWNING

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Feb. 3 — Death of Dolores Del Mar, attractive 29-year-old Hollywood dancer whose nude body was found in Los Angeles harbor in the aftermath to a gay yacht party, was listed by police today as "accidental."

The tragedy took place following a party aboard the yacht, El Com-A-Dee, owned by Arthur Hamburger, wealthy former film producer. Others aboard were Alyce Dera, 21, film player, and Robert Tracy, actor.

Police were told that Miss Del Mar was rescued from the water after an earlier mishap. While her clothes were drying she disappeared again from the yacht, and hours later her body was recovered by a harbor patrol crew.

Police said Miss Del Mar's true name was Dolores Rohn and that her parents lived in Detroit, Mich. Hamburger, a member of the U. S. coast guard reserve, left shortly after the tragedy aboard his 60-foot cruiser on a routine service cruise.

EARLY REPORTS URGED OF PRESIDENT'S FETES

COLUMBUS, Feb. 3 — With the 1941 campaign for funds to fight infantile paralysis already ended in a majority of Ohio communities and with final President's Birthday celebrations winding up the work in other counties during the next few days, J. E. Trautman, state director of the campaign and national director of the "postal plan", today asked all local campaign leaders to report as quickly as possible on the results of the drive in their counties.

Calling attention to the fact that no estimate of the local, state or national totals could be made until after the final events had been held, Trautman said that the national and state committees are anxious to give the newspapers and the public a tentative report on the Ohio results as soon as the last President's Birthday celebration of 1941 is over "and this cannot be done without the information only you can give."
